are quite exceptional. While words seemed colored to them only when spoken very slowly and separately, and then simply take on the colors of the component sounds, particularly the vowels, the names of the numerals have distinct colors which are entirely different in father and daughter. Intense thought of a sound can bring up the color just as really hearing it does.

EXPLORATION AND TRAVEL.

Stanley's march.

ADVICES from Bansa-Manteka (about midway between Banana and Stanley Pool), dated March 29, say, "Mr. Henry M. Stanley, with his expedition for the relief of Emin Bey, has arrived here. All the members of the party are well. Mr. Stanley has decided to take a route by way of Stanley Falls for Emin's camp at Wadelai. He will restore the authority of the International association at Stanley Falls, install Tippeo-Tip, and afterward ascend the Mburu, which is now known to be for a great part navigable. At the point where navigation ceases, the caravan will start across the country, striking the Albert Nyansa at Murswur, where Stanley intends to form a fortified camp, and then send in advance boats to inform Emin of the arrival of the expedition, and solicit transportation to Wadelai by Emin's two steamers. The caravan, which presents an imposing spectacle, is about to leave here for Leopoldville. Four bodies consisting of twenty-five men each, commanded by Europeans, will go in advance to drive off the marauders resting the route. The association's steamer the Stanley, the Livingstone mission steamer Henry Read, and the trading steamer Florida, will wait at Leopoldville to carry the expedition to the upper Kongo. The enterprise has caused a sensation among the natives. Many men from the factories at Banana and Boma are flocking to join the expedition, news having spread of the return of the 'white prophet' who will restore order among the people."

This report confirms the views expressed in some letters on the state of affairs on the Kongo, published by the Paris geographical society, to which we referred in Science of April 1, saying that the intercourse on both banks of the Kongo as far as Stanley Pool was interrupted by the natives attacking the caravans. Slow though the progress be, we may hope, however, that the Kongo association will succeed, after all, in opening central Africa to commerce. Even the bitterest enemy of the association cannot deny that great progress has been made since the first steps of opening the Kongo route were taken. Though the aspect is not so glowing as the association represents, we are confident of the final success of the numerous efforts for gaining a foothold in the Kongo basin.

Stanley's route leads through one of the most unknown parts of Africa, the exploration of which will lead to the discovery of the watershed between the upper Kongo and the Mvutan Nsige.
